

AbstractMethods for Analyzing Animal Products

The present invention provides methods for analysing animal products. In particular methods for differentiating animal products on the basis of breed origin or validating an animal product are provided.